

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

THE Coburn Shakespearean players will present "As You Like It" on the grounds and under the auspices of the Lakeside Country Club, July 6th.

This organization is composed entirely of representative Shakespearean artists of the highest class, the performances being given in the open air. In the present instance, the performance will be given on the club grounds, and to any one unacquainted with an all-fresco performance, the coming engagement can be considered as an absolute novelty, for it is undisputed that the full charms and beauty of a pastoral play can only be realized in a performance given in the open air.

Mr. Coburn has been remarkably successful in securing the services of several Shakespearean scholars who really look at this summer season work as an opportunity for further exploiting the works of the immortal poet. Miss Leah Willis, who will portray the lead role, has achieved a decided distinction in the Shakespearean heroines. Her support has been recognized with many of the leading stars of to-day, and it is safe to assume that the play will be given with perfect accessories.

For shampooing the hair, Ivory is the ideal soap.

A white soap, it yields a snow white lather, a lather that cleans the hair but does not change its color.

Every day new devices and utensils are added to the exhibit, making it more interesting and of more educational advantage. Yesterday a Buffalo company placed a set of electric coffee makers, meat grinding and chopping machines of special interest to grocers and butchers.

Electric contractors and supply men said last night that they were heartily in favor of making the electrical exhibit, being held at 729 East Main Street, permanent, as they have seen where it has benefited Richmonders considerably, from both a financial and an educational standpoint. All agree now that the exhibit should be kept open all next week, and then try for a permanent arrangement.

The contractors have an arrangement among themselves, which each one takes a day at the exhibit, to explain any prices, costs or details that inquiring or interested persons may ask. There are always at least two men on the job all the time. They are Edgar L. Moulton and John W. Porter. From the time the doors are opened in the morning until closing time, 10 o'clock at night, these two men are in attendance, and are ready, willing and even anxious to give all explanations that are asked.

In speaking of the benefits of the exhibit, Mr. Porter and Mr. Moulton say that they have seen where it has benefited Richmonders considerably, from both a financial and an educational standpoint.
